

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method for thermally testing integrated circuits, comprising a temperature generation device located within the IC, configured with a primary purpose of affecting a temperature at the IC. A temperature sensor is located within close proximity to the IC, and a temperature controller is coupled to the temperature generation device and to the temperature sensor.

10

15

H:\FILES\21000\21853\Filing Docs\21853-App3.doc